Note: If you do nothing, your household's SNAP benefits will be reduced or stopped. If you can contact the worker, but do not demonstrate compliance as assigned by this agency and do not otherwise document good cause for noncompliance or that you are exempt from SNAP work activities, your household's SNAP benefits will be reduced or stopped. This is your only chance to comply with SNAP work activities to avoid losing benefits. If you are claiming good cause or an exemption, you must contact the worker identified on this notice by the date noted above.

Additional Information

Good Cause: If you contact this agency by the date noted on page one, you will be given a chance to explain the reason(s) why you did not cooperate to determine if you had good cause. Good cause is an event or circumstance beyond your control that prevents you from complying with work requirements assigned by this agency. It is your responsibility to give us reason(s) why you did not cooperate and to show us any proof which helps explain what happened. You should present any proof available to help show why you did not report or comply with work requirements by the date noted on page one. Some examples of good reasons for not complying with a work requirement include, but are not limited to:

- You or your child were sick on the day of the work activity;
- You had a household emergency;
- You did not have child care for your child who is under the age of 13; or,
- You were unable to participate due to a domestic violence situation.

You may be required to provide proof to support any reason(s) you give for not reporting or complying with work requirements. Examples of suitable proof may include a letter from your doctor, letter from your child's school, letter from the court, or other similar documents explaining why you did not comply with work requirements on the date(s) assigned. The proof that you provide will be used to decide whether or not you should be excused for the day(s) you did not report or comply with work requirements.

Exemptions: If you contact this agency by the date noted on page one and claim you are exempt from work requirements, you must provide proof so we can decide whether or not you should be exempt from work requirements. Exemptions from participation in SNAP work activities may include, but are not limited to: being under 16 or 60 years of age or older or being physically or mentally unfit for employment. Proof of exemption could include a statement from your doctor or medical professional providing care or other papers that explain your situation. You may also be referred to our medical provider to participate in an evaluation to decide if you should be exempt from work requirements because of a physical or mental health condition. If you have been referred to participate in a SNAP work activity and are claiming an exemption, you must contact the worker identified on page one of this notice by the date noted above.

We will review your explanation, along with any other information, and notify you of our decision.

If you do nothing, that is, you do not contact this agency by the date mentioned above, you will receive a Notice of Intent telling you that you are not eligible for public assistance and/or SNAP benefits, or that your public assistance and/or SNAP benefits will be reduced.
